CLIPBOARD MANAGER FOR MACOS

A little hutch for everything you copy.

The private clipboard manager that remembers it all — and keeps it on your Mac.

Text, links, images and files: captured, searchable, and one shortcut away. Passwords and keys are encrypted behind Touch ID. No cloud, no accounts, no tracking.

One quiet menu-bar app, a whole toolkit

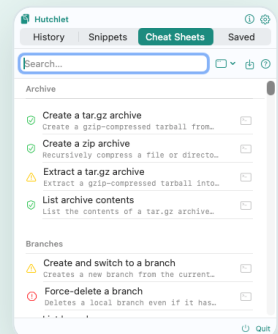

The default macOS clipboard holds one item at a time. Hutchlet keeps it all — and adds the productivity and security tools that earn their place beside it.

-  Unlimited history
Text, links, images and files — captured automatically and searchable in a flash.
-  Pin favourites
Keep the things you reuse most at the top — pinned items are never auto-evicted.
-  Password generator
Strong passwords & passphrases with an entropy read-out — dropped into the clipboard, then auto-cleared.
-  Snippets
Reusable text — replies, signatures, boilerplate. Add `{fields}` to fill in on paste; organise into folders.
-  Smart retention
Always keep the newest items, keep fresher ones up to a limit, and skip oversized clips — your rules.
-  Speaks your language
English, Polish, German and Spanish, selected automatically from macOS.
-  Summon at the cursor
A shortcut (`⌘⇧V`) or a mouse gesture pops the panel right where you're working.
-  Secrets, kept safe
Passwords, API keys and cards are detected, encrypted locally, masked `ab••••yz`, and revealed only behind Touch ID.
-  Cheat Sheets
Ready-made commands with parameters: fill the fields, preview the exact result, then copy or paste — you decide when to run it.
-  Saved Sessions & Handoff
Save a filled-in command, then hand it to a teammate as a portable link. No secrets ever travel.
-  Lives in the menu bar
Quiet, quick, out of the way — and opens automatically at login if you like.
-  Private by design
No servers, accounts, analytics or tracking — and no network calls with your clipboard data, at all.

Cheat Sheets warn you before you act — every command carries a risk level:

- Safe
- Network
- Medium
- Privileged
- Destructive
- Security bypass

The riskiest actions need an explicit confirmation, and Hutchlet never presses Enter for you by default.

Pay once for tools that respect you

Your clipboard holds some of your most sensitive data. Hutchlet treats it that way — and gives you back real time every day.

Privacy you can verify

No cloud, no account, no analytics, no tracking — and no network calls with your clipboard data. Secrets are encrypted with Apple CryptoKit and unlocked with Touch ID. The source is published, so anyone can confirm exactly how it behaves. Your clipboard is never the product.

Buy once, yours forever

A single purchase on the Mac App Store. No subscription, no ads, no upsells — every feature is unlocked from day one, and updates arrive through the App Store. Pay for the app, not a monthly tax on your own clipboard.

Real time saved, every day

Stop re-copying, stop retyping the same commands, and stop fixing typos in flags. Pin what you reuse, fill in a Cheat Sheet and preview it, generate a password in one tap, and share a ready command with your team. Built for developers, sysadmins, support and power users.

MACOS CLIPBOARD

One item. Copy again and it's gone. No search, no secrets, no history.

SUBSCRIPTION APPS

Your history synced to someone's cloud — and a fee every month to keep it.
